FASHION SHOW

SUMMER 20 19

agnès b. often says that she got her eye by looking at movies, that she finds her inspirations in the daily life, in the streets and that the thing she likes above all, is to style clothing, particularly working clothes.

The working clothes redrawn and styled and overdyed allowing to obtain specific colors opens the men summer 2019 collection... jacket and wide short pants, with zipped pockets on sides and overalls composed a story which goes on since the beginning of the brand, strengthened by denim pieces.

The snap cardigan is revisited for summer 2019 with wide horizontal stripes with snap studs only on black stripes!

agnès b. also associated wide black and white horizontal stripes with colored Mambo drawings in all over print on a gabardine zipped hooded jacket to bring a graphic touch in this theme.

Inspiration of the street with many Jersey garments in this mixed theme are made in this easy and comfortable material that allows movement, the shirts do not constrict from moving and remain ample and graphic, smart and elegant.

The male elegance inspired by French and American actors from the 60s is another story of this men summer 2019 collection... wide shirt tucked in high-waisted pants with rolled up sleeves evoke for agnès b. men who are smart in any circumstances, as were her father and grandfather!

Finally color is present through exclusive printed patterns and elbow sleeve length floral shirts associated with thin red vertical stripes trousers.

Wide limoncello and ecru vertical stripes, yellow jacket and Bertrand Loubé colored collages in all over print on a trousers complete this story.
